COMPANY PROFILE

KROMA Telecom is a wholly Spanish company dedicated to the design, manufacture and commercialisation of a wide offer of TFT monitors as well as Intercom systems for professional Broadcast. Its activities are focused on the analogue and digital video/ audio technology.

KROMA is synonymous with reliability, operational excellence, and solid customer service. Working with the highest quality standards, all products are fully developed, manufactured, and tested in the company's premises.

Since its establishment in 1996, KROMA has been defined by a great investment in R&D, together with constant innovation and special care of all our products to meet a fast changing market's needs. We pride ourselves to have always been supporting our clients, offering them a close and personal treatment. All these have made of KROMA Telecom a company of reference worldwide.

KROMA America (with head-quarters in Mexico) was founded during the second half of the year 2008, with the aim to offer a better support to its Latin American customers as well as continue growing in that continent.

Our objective has always been to become a reference brand in Broadcasting for both national and international markets. With the firm idea that 'collaborating in our client's development is helping our own too', we offer our clients and dealers the below services:

- Technical support offered by our team of qualified engineers
- A professional and experienced team
- Technical training for our clients with carefully taylor-made Demos
- Fast answer to all enquiries
