COMPANY PROFILE

The technological firm INOITULOS S.L. has developed IDAPT (www.idaptweb.com), the first universal simultaneous charger for portable electronic devices.

The aim of INOITULOS is to take advantage of technological progress and new market trends to provide charging solutions to constantly simplify the use of mobile technology.

INOITULOS is seeking to consolidate its worldwide distribution network for the IDAPT product range.

We are therefore interested in signing distribution agreements for each of the different distribution networks. In order to consolidate its position as an international benchmark, INOITULOS applies an active strategy to protect its industrial property and registers all its new creations through patent, design and trademark registration at the international level.
